

Alfa Financial Software AWS Marketplace End User Licence Agreement

Last Updated: 24 July 2026

This notice applies to any listing or offering made available by Alfa Financial Software via AWS Marketplace. It does not grant any licence, access right, service entitlement, support commitment, warranty, or other contractual right unless and until the relevant customer has entered into a separately negotiated written agreement with Alfa Financial Software.

Important Notice

Where Alfa Financial Software and a customer have entered into a separately negotiated written agreement, that agreement governs the customer's access to and use of the relevant solution or services. If there is any inconsistency between this notice and that separate agreement, the separate agreement prevails to the extent of the inconsistency.

Private Offers Only.

This offering is intended solely for customers that have received a private offer from Alfa Financial Software.

If you have purchased, subscribed to, or otherwise acquired this offering without entering into a separately negotiated agreement with Alfa Financial Software, this purchase has been made in error.

Alfa Financial Software may withhold, suspend, or disable access to the offering unless and until Alfa Financial Software has verified that the relevant customer has a separately executed written agreement in place covering the applicable solution, services, environment, and scope of use.

This notice is subject to the governing law and jurisdiction stated in the applicable separately negotiated written agreement between Alfa Financial Software and the relevant customer.

No Contract with Third Parties

Any acceptance of, subscription to, purchase of, deployment of, or access to an AWS Marketplace listing does not constitute acceptance by Alfa Financial Software of any contract with the purchaser, subscriber, user, or any other person, unless Alfa Financial Software has separately executed a written agreement with that customer.

These terms do not form a contract between Alfa Financial Software and any third party.

No rights, licences, warranties, support obligations, service commitments, or other contractual obligations are granted by Alfa Financial Software to any person or organisation solely by virtue of purchasing, subscribing to, or accessing this AWS Marketplace offering.

Any binding contractual relationship with Alfa Financial Software must arise from a separate written agreement executed between Alfa Financial Software and the relevant customer.

AWS Marketplace facilitates ordering, billing, and marketplace administration for listings made available through AWS Marketplace. AWS is not authorised to grant licences, access rights, support commitments, service levels, warranties, or other contractual rights on behalf of Alfa Financial Software unless expressly stated in a separately negotiated written agreement executed by Alfa Financial Software.

Accidental Purchases

If you have accidentally purchased or subscribed to this offering, you should:

1. Contact AWS Marketplace support regarding the purchase.
2. Contact Alfa Financial Software regarding the mistaken purchase.

Alfa Financial Software reserves the right to decline access to, support for, or use of the offering where no separately executed agreement exists.

Limitation of Reliance

To the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, no person may rely on this EULA as creating any contractual relationship with Alfa Financial Software.

Nothing in this notice waives, amends, varies, limits, or replaces any rights, remedies, restrictions, obligations, or approval requirements set out in a separately negotiated written agreement with Alfa Financial Software.

Alfa Financial Software reserves all rights not expressly granted in a separately negotiated written agreement executed by Alfa Financial Software.

Contact

Alfa Financial Software

Please contact Alfa Financial Software regarding the mistaken purchase and provide details of the AWS Marketplace listing, purchaser or subscriber, date of purchase or subscription, and any existing Alfa agreement you believe applies.
