

Access to and use of Writer’s full-stack generative artificial intelligence platform (the “Platform”) or any other products and services Writer makes available (including its APIs), along with any associated applications, software, and websites (collectively, the “Services”), by an organization or other entity is governed by Writer’s Platform Services Agreement, located at <https://writer.com/legal/platform-services/>, unless Writer and that entity have a separately executed agreement covering the Services, in which case that agreement governs for so long as it is in effect.

For the avoidance of doubt, the foregoing applies to any purchase of the Services on the Amazon Web Services Marketplace (the “Marketplace”), including purchases from a third party authorized by Writer to resell the Services via the Marketplace.