Licenses

Websoft9 packages a wide range of software applications and supporting software. While much of the software packaged by Websoft9 is open source, some applications are commercial and only limited-time trial versions are made available via Websoft9. In both cases, Websoft9 Images include trademarks that are the property of their respective owners and are made available under various trademark and licensing policies. You will need to reference those individual policies regarding the use of any trademarks contained within Websoft9 Images.
