    Releases of Pathway covered by this License contain a copy of this License as their license file, and are made available by the Licensor at pathway.com, github.com/pathwaycom/, and by way of other distribution channels.

Additional Use Grant:
    The Licensor grants you (the licensee) additional rights to the Licensed Work, whereby you are entitled to run the Licensed Work in production use, at no cost, subject to all of the following conditions:
    (a) in a single installation of the Licensed Work you may run the Licensed Work on only one machine, physical or virtual, and without exceeding the number of worker threads and processes allowed by the configuration of the software runner of the distribution; and (b) the additional right to use granted herein applies to the exclusion of use of the Licensed Work for a Stream Data Processing Service, as well as to the exclusion of use of any modified or derivative Licensed Work, in particular:
    - you may not move, change, disable, or circumvent any license key or resource limiting functionality that may be present in the software, and you may not remove or obscure any functionality in the software that is protected by the license key or circumvent resource limits,
    - you may not alter, remove, or obscure any licensing, copyright, or other notices of the licensor in the software; (c) the production use of modified Licensed Work is permitted only where the modifications of the Licensed Work are indispensable to fix bugs or vulnerabilities which might otherwise alter the scope of functionalities of the Licensed Work, as described in API documentation available at https://pathway.com/developers/documentation/api-docs/pathway; and (d) this entire License including its Additional Use Grant shall remain in full force and effect for any use under this Additional Use Grant, thus covering the Licensed Work and also binding any and all users of the Licensed Work.
    A "Stream Data Processing Service" is defined as any offering that allows third parties (other than your employees or individual contractors) to access the functionality of the Licensed Work by performing an action directly or indirectly that causes the deployment, creation, or change to the structure of a running computation graph of Pathway on any machine.
    For the sake of clarity, a Stream Data Processing Service would include providers of infrastructure services, such as cloud services, hosting services, data center services and similarly situated third parties (including affiliates of such entities) that would offer the Licensed Work, possibly in connection with a broader service offering, to their customers or subscribers.
